Jennifer L. Morgan has published extensively on the intersecting histories of gender, race, and sexuality in colonial America. She is author of Laboring Women: Gender and Reproduction in the Making of New World Slavery (2004) and is currently at work on a project that considers colonial numeracy, racism, and the rise of the transatlantic slave trade, tentatively entitled, “Accounting for the Women in Slavery”. 